Thomas F. Lane Creates TELLS OF DANGERS Another Sensation in Daugherty Case

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 3-The storm swept course of the Daugherty investigating committee took a sudden turning today, which led into a swirl of charges of recognition, centering in the war department.

. Thomas F. Lane, until a few days ago, legal adviser to Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, testified that when he refused to comply with an order to stay away from the committee, he was dismissed from the air service and his desk and bearing on aircraft transactions.

The officer named by the witness as having given him the order and taken the papers, Captain W. V. Bolandt, followed Lane immediately or the stand, and told the committee he did advise Lane not to appear before the committee. He confirmed also he had taken certain of the records in possesion of Lane and said Secretary Weeks had instructed him to say that a subpoena served on the secretary, himself, would be necessary to bring the papers before the committee.

Denies Suppression. Bolandt denied that he had desired to suppress Lane's testimony and declared he had taken "only official records' from Lane's desk and brief case and insisted that he was actuated only by a desire to see that the committee came through proper channels if it desired to secure possession of the documents.

Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, immediately instructed the committee clerk to get out a subpocna for the secretary of war and describe the papers wanted.

As far back as 1919, Lane said, h had been convinced that the situation regarding air craft construction was bad. The Lincoln motor case was the first he dealt with which he thought was bad, he said.

It was settled for $1,000,000 he told the committee, while the govern ment's claim was more than $9,000 000. The war department refused to accept the settlement in the Linoln case recommended by Attorney Gen-sent in a large body. eral Daugherty. Lane said, but they went ahead and settled anyhow.

Found "Situation Bad."

"I became convinced when I started ! that the situation was bad as to all of these negetiated settlements of war cases that involved huge sums of money," Lane said.

"In 1919 officers in the air service resigned and were discharged. About the middle of 1919 a colonel came from

FIERY CROSS BLAZES IN NIGHT ON CAMPUS OF UNIVERSITY

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 3—The fiery cross blazed last night on the campus of Columbia University.

It was set up and lighted by a group of white-robed and hooded men opposite Furnald Hall, where Frederick W. Wells, a negro law student, has a room from which fellow students recentely attempted to oust him. While the cross burned Wells remained in his locked room, heedless of the ealls and knocks of his neighbors.

As soon as the cross was burned out, the men scattered, with cries of "Down with the negro."

Several students said they would report the affair to Dean Hawkes, who, a short time ago, refused to act on a student's petition asking for Wells' dismissed from the dermitory.

Wells, whose home is in Union City, Tenn., has asserted he would leave his quarters only if the University asked him to go. If violence were offered, he said he would take steps to protect himself.

"I wish I could talk to you for five hours instead of one, and that I had the city for an audience," said Rev. Gid Higgenbotham Wednesday night in his sermon at Central Baptist church, where he took his text from James 1:15 "And sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death."

"When conscience is aroused there is a cleaning out. The last thought of our modern politician is to arouse conscience of the American people. ing to do this very thing. Sin is killing have found the laws of the land are made, they are enacted at the capiof child for parents is being destroyed. The conscience of the churches, many of them, is dead. Churches and their members tell the sinners that they love them, but sit idly by and let them go to an endless hell. Everywhere I go. I see faces seared with sin. America. We are nearer war today an in 1916. 82 per cent of the booteggers are foreigners or ex-convicts. Only 24 per cent of the population of Chicago is American born. There are still men who will sell themselves. I think just as much of the respect for our laws that is shown by the bootlegger as I do of fellow who buys from him, and sustains him.

"I think no less of the fellow who chrenlates a petition for beer and ight wines to return, and the ones who sign it Friends, conditions are deplorable. It is high time we as Christians were aroused to fighting the devil in earnest, that we return to God and His blessed Son and ask His help that Americans stand by the constitution of our land."

The Local Engineer Has Novel Mixture for Improved Streets

The tests of the new asphalt being laid by the Independent Paving company of Birmingham are being made by a large chemical house of Pittsburg, Pa., two representatives of the house being on the job.

Engineers are greatly interested in the tests, as the make-up of the asphalt and also the foundations of stone and concrete under it, is a new invention credited to city engineer M. S. Bingham. The final coat of asphalt is being called "Binghamite" in recognition of Mr. Bingham's service

RECORDS OPEN TO THE DELEGATION

Hopes the People Will Attend Hearing, He Writes The Daily

John A. Rogers, chairman of the Alabama highway commission, would be very glad to welcome a delegation of North Alabama citizens to Mont gomery in regard to apportionment of highway funds, selection of routes, etc. Mr. Rogers says in a letter to The Albany-Decatur Daily.

Mr. Rogers declares the state highway department has 'done nothing of which it is ashamed" and says the records will be opened to the North Aabama delegation.

The highway chairman has reference in his letter to the delegation not to send any delegation to the capital on April 7. Mr. Rogers' letter follows: Albany-Decatur Daily, Albany, Alabama.

Gentlemen:-In your issue of March 29th appeared a statement on the front page under the caption "North Alabama to demand its share of highway funds.' This article said that a delegation would appear before the Highway Commission on Monday, April 7th, and that it was felt necessary to appeal all along Moulton street. directly to Governor W. W. Brandon to keep down alleged discriminatory practices in the distribution of highway funds. I hope that a delegation will come from North Alabama and I will ask the Governor of Alabama to preside over the meeting of the Highway Commission so that this delegation can be heard. The Highway Department of Alabaha has done nothing of which it is ashamed. The records of this department will be open to your delegation I know of no way in which injurious rumors can be answered better than by delegations from the several connties coming before the Highway Com-

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 3-Chairman Norris, of the senate agricultural committee, which will decide next Tuesday whether to hold public hearngs on the Muscle Shoals bid, hopes to make Muscle Shoals a vehicle for the declaration of a general policy on the part of the federal government

Those who wish to see the Malone amusement park on Moulton street, had best get busy, as the park fence on the Dollar Sanyon dam product on the Colorado fiver and the Muscle Shoals problem, in the opinion of Chairman Norris, require the adoption of a policy of felleral ownership and operation.

"There are several controlling facwhich in my opinion require the federal government not only to complete both," said Senator Norris today, "but looking northwest from Moulton street to operate them. MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Why Is Dicky Unexpectedly at Home?

OU took the first train the morning after I left!"

I repeated the words
Dicky had just uttered trying to make my very real astonishment appear even greater. At last I had something at which I could show disapproval without laying myself open to Dicky's belief that I was jealously suspicious of him. Sheer pride had prevented me from betraying the least surprise at finding the least surprise at finding in the apartment, but this last piece of information, which my inquiries concerning Lillian's small daughter had wrung from him justified me in a bit of conjugal naging.

"Not the first train," he retorted was eagerly enthusiastic, altogether too much so, I told myself, although in the same breath I despised myself for my suspicious meanness, "A good nap will set you up. Here's your bag. Is there anything I can get you?"

He carried my bag to the bedroom as he spoke, and took his bathrobe from the wardrobe. Then, with masculine clumsiness he turned down the covers of the bed, adjusted the pillows and switched on the reading lamp which we had installed when we came to the apartment.

"No thank you. Dicky." I answered sweetly, "unless you have a new magazine handy. I probably won't read more than five minutes.

"Not the first train," he retorted sulkily. "I told you the 8 o'clock.

"Yes, an hour's difference 18 a great deal," I retorted.

"Well, what's eating you, I'd like to know!" he began angrily, and I recognized the premonitory symptoms of the temperamental tempest to which Dieky can work himself up when he wishes. "Is there anything criminal in my leaving the farmhouse and running up to the city? Since when have you—"

"Nothing criminal, certainly," I interrupted icily, determined to make my point before he should work himself into too much of a rage to get it. "But considering the state your mother was in last night over the departure of her daughter and her grandchildren, and the fagit that Junior was there without—"

"Any care save that of Katie and Jim, who have teen with us since he was born and with whom you'd risk him for a month if you wasted to." Dicky's tones were elaborately ironical. "Yes, it Is shameful. I know, that I should come up to not tend to some necessary work at the studio before taking Mother out to Harriet's."

He went out into the other room and, pretending to read for five min-utes, I switched off my lamp and tried to sleep. I could hear Dicky's newspaper fastling, and once I heard him come, to the door and look in at me, but I made no move-ment and, evidently satisfied that I was sleeping, he went back to his

He had the grace not to look at me directly while delivering this little tirade. He knew as well as I—indeed, better—that as far as routine affairs at his studio went he could attend to them all in the interval between the first incoming and the last outgoing Bridgehampton trains. His real work he could do just as well or better at the farm. It might have been necessary for him to come to the city, but it had been his own inclination which had brought him to the apartment and kept him there.

"But I'm loo tired to remember anything or bother about it, either. If you'll lend me your bathrobe, I'm going to take off these outer togs and snuggle down for a nap before Lillian comes."

county farmer who died recently and left his tinued as follows: entire estate, valued at $16,000, to the United States, and doubtless he was. It was a strange, almost an unprecedented thing to do. And yet we like the spirit which prompted the old man to do it. He accounted in his will for his choice of an heir by saying that he owed "a great debt of gratitude for the privilege of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness under the Stars and Stripes."

Most that we hear or say about our government is in the nature of criticism. Complaint is rife, appreciation almost rare. The pessimism and the cynicism are overdone. We are somewhat like the man who said he could not see the forest for the trees. We look at the details and not at the whole. We lose sight of the fundamental blessings of free government and fix our whole attention on the ugly excrescences. It is a great thing to be an American. Who that reads this would be anything else? EFFORTS TO USE THE ENERGIES OF BOYS TO THE BEST ADVANTAGE

The thought as to how best to harness and itilize great forces is familiar to the many people nterested in harnessing and using the water power at Muscle Shoals. Lately efforts are being made here to get the unlimited vitality of the boys of the community properly conserved.

The efforts have spring from men's minds who have thought long and earnestly on * the "boy problem." One of the most outstanding of the men of this generation who have undertaken to solve the boy problem was General Baden-Powell. His effort directed to nothing more than the job of harnessing the "Irresistible energy of the boy They called him an eccentric, the old Fairfield force to useful effort," says one writer, who con-

"The recent celebration of Boy Scout Week hrughout the United States not only emphasized the record for good deeds and manliness of behavior to which this enthusiastic young organization has attained, but is putting into the hearts of older peple everywhere a new and deeper understanding of the Scout spirit."

To the majority of boys there is a trying bit of road along the way between childhood and youth. Under most conditions it is at this particular stretch of the journey that a boy has more energy than outlet and is apt to waste a deal of strength and time in activities sometimes wasteful and often disastrous to more people than him-

This is the time when the fortunate boy becomes a Scout. Like the wind in the sail, the steam against the piston, the electricity in the wire, his exuberant restlessness is put to good account.

Realistic Flowers Made From Glass by Experts

Marvelous artificial blooms that re semble Nature's finest specimens in every respect except scent, are now being made by expert glassblowers. Every part of a flower or plant is faithfully reproduced, from the long. delicate stems and colored petals to the almost invisible pollen.

The first thing which the maker of by sentence prayers. these wonderful blooms does is to blow fragile as tissue paper. The glass petals are then shaped and colored exactly like the natural ones. Some of the rarer plants cannot be easily reproduced, and often several Mary Leigh Chenault; Chart Reportexperiments have to be carried out good imitation is obtained.

These glass flowers are used extensively in museums, both to show details of plant or flower formation and as backgrounds for displaying specimens of birds and insects.-London the Way. Frances McMillian and Ger-Answers.

Real Color of Gold Few persons are familiar with the real color of gold, because it is seldom seen except when heavily alloyed, a state in which it is much redder than when it is pure. The purest coins ever made were the $50 pieces which were once in common use in California. Their coinage was abantoned because the loss by abrasion was so great and because their intehouse, barn and good bored well. 4 for could be bored out and filled with pike. Known as the Mrs. Kate Price and were the most valuable coins ever minted and circulated. All gold is not alike when refined. Australian Paul C. Davis, at Home Oil Mill. gold is distinctly redder than that taken in California. Moreover, placer gold is more yellow than that which is taken from quartz. This is one of the mysteries of metallurgy, because the gold in placers comes from that which is in quartz. The gold in the Aral mountains is the reddest in the
